

Award Information

Members of MIFNQ's Management Committee and staff are not eligible for nomination.
The decision of the independent judging panel is final.

Employer Achievement Award

For an employer who has shown outstanding commitment to support the recovery of an individual, or group of people, in the workplace.

Employment is a key part to many people's recovery and a core part of the social inclusion.

Employee Achievement Award

For an employee who has made an outstanding contribution to the workplace as part of their recovery journey.

This award outlines that effective social inclusion not only benefits the individual, but employers and the community as a whole.

Outstanding Reform/Service Coordination Award

For a service initiative that has demonstrated the ability to effectively integrate/co-ordinate services, in order to provide better outcomes for consumers and their families. This award is open to government and non-government providers.

COAG mental health reforms have recognised the importance of integrated service initiatives. Recovery requires a range of opportunities and only through co-operation can this best be provided.

Mayor's Recovery Award

A special award to recognise an individual who has made great strides in their recovery, and who is an example of what is possible.

This award recognises that recovery is a personal journey and that stories of success bring hope and encouragement to others.

Media Award

For an individual or media organisation that has provided high quality coverage of issues relating to emotional health and wellbeing. This award recognises the role media has to play if we are to promote social inclusion in our community.

Mental Health & Wellbeing Community Award

For an individual or organization that has given exceptional support to the promotion of mental health and wellbeing awareness throughout the community.
